

Description

East African Journal of Social and Applied Sciences (EAJ-SAS) formerly the Research Report Series (RRS) is a multidisciplinary Journal of the Moshi Co-operative University (MoCU). EAJ-SAS has been in existence for more than 15 years, mostly published through print media. Throughout this period, MoCU has continued to support EAJ-SAS by providing funds, personnel and other non-human resources. Currently, EAJ-SAS is published both online and through print media.

Focus and scope of journal

EAJ-SAS is a forum for the wider dissemination of current knowledge on multidisciplinary issues related to socio-economic development of the East African Countries. EAJ-SAS is published both online and through print media. Multidisciplinary in nature and with a strong practical orientation, this refereed journal publishes studies relating to and report significant developments drawn from economic and social development, business, management practices, cross-cutting issues such as environment and gender; policy and policy issues, the public and the private sector, land reforms, and non-profit organisations. The journal also publishes articles which provide practical insights on doing business and investments at local and international level. To this end, EAJ-SAS invites contributions from authors from all over the world to submit research-based articles, policy debates, review articles and book reviews.

Copyright

Articles submitted to the journal should be original contributions and should not be under consideration for any other publication at the same time. Authors submitting articles for publication warrant that the work is not an infringement of any existing copyright and will indemnify the publisher against any breach of such warrant. For ease of dissemination and to ensure proper policing of use, papers and contributions become the legal copyright of the publisher unless otherwise agreed.

Editor's Note

The East African Journal of Social and Applied Sciences (EAJ-SAS) brings to you an attention of another issue with remarkable landmark of quality research articles from authors of East Africa and beyond. It is our pleasure to welcome you all at this momentous Issue as we air out to share with the world our works from esteemed authors. The EAJ-SAS leans on a principle of quality and novelty in spearheading knowledge and skills generation among prominent and upcoming scholars who keep the ball rolling in the quest of problem solving through scientific research and critical thinking. Once again, the EAJ-SAS in this current Issue ignites a wide range of topics that possess impeccable findings and solutions to social, political and economic dimensions in varying localities. The Issue, to this end portrays a vital representation of best scope of scholarly debates through facts and scientific perspectives that arose interest in understanding directions and development in the 21st century. While the previous Issue had twenty five (25) articles and three (3) book reviews, this current Issue carries fifteen (15) research articles and two (2) book reviews. The published articles ventured into debate of coherent topics within the scope of the EAJ-SAS. They included areas of health information and communication needs, modern energy access for productivity, entrepreneurship and marketing. More areas of coverage are banking and finance, electronic procurement systems, tourism, leadership and management in business. Lastly, matters pertaining to traditional belief and agriculture have been expounded in the articles of this Issue. On book reviews, topical books were based on the themes of labour and employment relations, microfinance and management in the new era.

Nonetheless, welcome submission of original articles for publication consideration in our next Issues. We remain humbly thanking all authors whose articles got an affirmation for publication in this Issue.

Enjoy reading!!
